Vant To Avoid 'Cougar Days' Jail? Wear School Colors, Sing Song

A day of jailing "disloyal Cougars" followed by a giant Victory Ball in the Wilkinson Center will be the highlight of the annual Cougar Days Saturday.

PLANS HAVE been made by the Brigham Young University Athletic Association to have all BYU students wear the Cougar blue and white colors on Friday. All students failing to do so will be jailed if they cannot sing the school song, "Rise and Shoot The Cougars Are Out."

A MEMBER of the committee that students would be kept in jail until they learn to sing song completely said, "Admission to the Victory Dance for the game Friday night will be cents per person. Music for the game will be furnished by the Ernest Alsound Sound. Shirt and tie are optional."

THE JAIL WILL be kept on the sidewalk between the Eyring Science

Center and the Smith Family Living Center.

Sid Paulsen, chairman of pep activities for the week, indicated that pep and enthusiasm should be the keynote of the games for Friday night's Kansas State game.

"WE WOULD like to build school spirit and let the team know we are one hundred percent behind them," Paulson said.

Chairman Paulsen explained that Cougar Days is being held during

Beware Salesmen

With Student Rates

Will Merrill of the Student Relations office has announced that students should be wary of salesmen selling magazines at so-called "student rates."

Merrill said that the companies in question sending the publications are legitimate, but that the prices are not student rates. He urged all BYU students to pass the warning along to others.

quaw Peak Placed Off Limits or Mountaineering Enthusiasts

"A 12-year-old, experienced, mountain climber near Salt Lake City today plunged 500 feet to his death while attempting to ascend a granite faced cliff."

THE STORY'S only a week old, but a new one every year, the same story is repeated with different characters playing the lead. At BYU alone eight students have lost their lives in climbing accidents during the past decade. Of those, there have been severe injuries, resulting because of experience, carelessness, over-confidence and the use of faulty equipment.

What can be done to prevent the necessary loss of lives in the mountains around BYU?

FIRST OF ALL, according to Steve Petersen of the Alpine Rescue team, a competent climber would never attempt to climb the face of Squaw Peak (see photograph on page 11) or the cliffs of Y Mountain because of the permanently hazardous condition of the rock.

Often, also, there are those who love to pit themselves against an almost impossible obstacle, thus bringing risk upon themselves, those who are climbing with them and rescuers who are called to help when accidents occur.

FAULTY EQUIPMENT is another killer. Most authorities agree that adequate boots and shoes are the most important items needed

President Wilkinson Blasts Misconduct In Annual Address

The overwhelming number of students enrolled at BYU this year and the necessity to enforce more stringent standards of conduct were stressed by President Ernest L. Wilkinson in his annual President's Message Thursday morning at the Smith Fieldhouse.

"Because we now have many more students who desire to register at BYU than we can take care of, we are going to be much more strict in the enforcement of our standards that we have in the past years," he said.

"It would be unjust to keep on this campus a single student who does not conform to the standards of the institution when another student, who will conform, is waiting to be admitted."

PRESIDENT WILKINSON specifically mentioned great concern would be shown expressed during the year involving total obedience to the honor code and the complete annihilation of any riots.

He said that, "if two or more students organize and carry on a disturbance or raid any one of the buildings, it will constitute a riot and all participants are subject to summary dismissal."

PRESIDENT WILKINSON added that "Riots are never harmless and we do not intend to tolerate them this year, even if it comes to suspending scores of students."

The BYU leader also hit out at what he called "the latest fad, beards and go-go girls."

He said that no improper dress would be tolerated on the campus nor would undesirable types of "sexily scantily dressed, girls, surfers or grimey, sloppy beatniks."

COMING AGAINST Dr. Wilkinson's attack were improper dancing, singing and dancing times such as the from the monkeys and the swim are out of place on this campus," he said. "There is no place in our dances for the shimmying contortionist exhibiting sexual actions in a tight shift dress."

He also pointed out that fireworks, balloons filled with water, eggs and stones thrown will be in vicinity.

Ministers ...

New Ward Quotas

The First Presidency of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Thursday imposed a quota restriction on missionaries in view of the increased draft requirements of the Selective Service.

The signed statement of the First Presidency is as follows:

TO: PRESIDENTS OF STAKES AND BISHOPS OF WARDS, AND MISSION AND BRANCH PRESIDENTS IN THE UNITED STATES

Dear Brethren:

As you have been advised by press reports, draft quotas given Selective Service Boards have been substantially increased during the past few months.

While Selective Service officials recognize the right of the Church to call, ordain, and send out missionaries, and the eligibility of these missionaries for IV-D (ministerial) classification, they have requested the Church to place restrictions on the number sent.

In harmony with this request, and realizing that this may mean in some instances the denial of an opportunity for missionary service at this time, we are making the following program operative immediately and until further advised, it being understood that when Selective Service requirements ease, the quota for missionaries will be lifted.

1. Effective as of October 1, 1965, each ward and independent branch will be permitted to send one missionary each six months, except for men with certain classifications as noted below.

2. Ward and branch quotas will be transferable within the area of the stake. That is, if a ward or branch does not have a missionary to send within a six month period, it may give its quota, under direction of the stake president, to another ward or branch in the same stake.

3. No young man who has actually received notice of induction should be recommended for missionary service.

4. Men with the following classifications, who are worthy and qualified, may be sent without restriction as to numbers and will not illegal and students will be disciplined for using them.

The BYU President urged students to leave behind the world of the high school summers and move upward to church standards and dignity at BYU.

Info Center To Be Built

Visitors to Brigham Young University soon will receive assistance at a new information center, now under construction at the 12th North on campus.

Completion is scheduled for Nov. 1 for the center which will serve not only as an information station but also as a decorative entrance to the spacious University campus.

Cast stone planters on each side of the entrance will be 30 foot in diameter. Rising from the planters on the south side will be a 32-foot "Brigham Young University" sign. Behind the sign will stand a 24-foot brick pylon bearing the University seal in white cast stone and bronze. The planter on the north side will be similar in design but without the pylon.

Both sides will be attractively lighted.

Also on the south side an information building, 30 ft. x 8 ft., constructed of brick to match the pylon and the nearby Helaman Halls, will be located just behind the planters.

The building will contain telephone, heating for year-round operation, and sliding windows. Parking lots will be located on either side so that visitors may drive up to the windows or park behind the building and walk across the plaza to enter under the direction of University Relations Division will man the information center. Students will give directions to visitors, telephone ahead to those expecting them, and supply general information about the school and surrounding vicinity.

Yard "Y"...

Why Mystery?

They may not still be riveted to that unusual Y on the mountain, but the controversy as to why the Y is that way still rages.

The assistant principal of BYH called the Daily Universe to disclaim any BYH high participation. He said an off-campus group consisting mostly of Provo High girls performed the Y operation.

Address Clarifies Standards

Students should have had no trouble understanding what is being required of them at BYU. President Ernest L. Wilkinson's address in Thursday's assembly left no room for doubt.

Covering clearly what type of behavior the administration and church is expecting of students seemed to put a cap on the "any-one can go to BYU" era.

In line with President Wilkinson's examples about "fear of involvement" and "I don't know why I didn't do anything" attitudes we must realize our responsibility toward fellow students.

What can we do to help, assist or change our "beastly, beatific and bazaar" friends?

We hope students will strive for self-improvement and practice moral responsibility. The problems of dress, dance and conduct can and should be solved by students. It is up to us to carry the ball.

Are Students Draft Dodgers?

On July 23, 1965, an announcement came from President Johnson that draft calls would be increased from 17,000 to 35,000 per month in order for the United States to meet its commitment in South Vietnam.

Some of the immediate results of President Johnson's announcement were pickets at the White House calling for withdrawal from Viet Nam, draft-card-burning parties, and "pacifists" demonstrations in California trying to stop trains carrying troops destined for Viet Nam.

A few weeks later President Johnson announced that after midnight of August 26, men who married would no longer be deferred from the draft.

The immediate result of that announcement was a migration of hundreds of young people to places like Las Vegas for a quickie marriage that would beat the deadline and give a few months more "security" from armed forces duty.

Last week on this campus, Lieutenant General Lewis B. Hershey, national director of the Selective Service, told BYU men they have an obligation to their country which could not be obscured just because they were students.

What will be the local reaction to that announcement? Are we the type of patriots that will burn our draft cards, march and demonstrate for withdrawal from Viet Nam, or rush into marriage to avoid the draft?

Or are we merely the type that will do anything and take any kind of course just to hang on to a student deferment until age 26?

Admitted that service in the armed forces is not the most pleasant way to spend time; but nevertheless, the fact remains that it is necessary and important.

We are citizens of the United States of America and if there is a need to support our country with military duty, then we must accept it.

Students engaged in serious, fruitful study at this college are filling a need for the country. General Hershey said it was not the intention of the Selective Service to take such students away from their educational opportunities.

But, students who come to college with no better motive than to continue their easy way of life while hiding behind the protective skirts of several hours of study are doing nothing more than dodging the draft.

A draft dodger today is no better than his contemptuous ancestor of years past.

Frustrated Freshman

Dear Editor:

Being a Freshman on this great campus I find I am very much impressed with the spirit and the traditions here. I wish to congratulate those student leaders who are presently heading "Cougars Days". The worthy purpose of these series of events is to engage spirit for the coming football season.

ONE OF THESE front-tug-of-war which would have pitted the "pumy" Freshmen against the "mighty" upperclassmen.

The Freshmen turned out more than fifty strong to boost spirit for the upcoming Kansas State game. But to their dismay there were only three upperclassmen and few sophomores present, so all was called off.

WHAT I AM wondering is: if this is the spirit of those who have been here for years, really? And if this occurrence depicts the general attitude of the Student Body, how should the coaches and the freshmen feel about trying their hardest when only a few care?

So I ask, where is the "Spirit of BYU"? Is it up on the hill? Is it in the bell? Is it dependent upon Student Body officers? Or is it in the Freshmen or Sophomore Juniors? I would be a Cougar if I submitted that it is in the latter, and that this is the way the Freshmen, at least, feel about being here, on the greatest campus in the world!

A concerned and spirited Freshman,
Dee Eaton

Health Center Speed

A COMMENT, IN COMMENDATION,

I feel to commend the Health Center staff for the speed and effectiveness with which they handled the immunization shots last week. I imagine my own experience was quite typical:

I walked down the hall and was met by a nurse with an alcohol swab in each hand. She swabbed both my arms and before I could walk across the room I had been—

Sterilized
Inseptinized
Immunized
Unstabilized

And by next morning I was practically immobilized.

From The Faustell . . . Off-Election Year Politics

by Stewart Faustell

Although this is an off-election year when politics seem to be dormant, this is a year to watch.

THE PROFESSIONALS of the so-called "smoke-filled back rooms" will be watching for potential candidates to carry the burden of a particular cause.

The administration in Washington is watching for any sign of a break in its power. It cannot allow a break to occur that would carry over into an election year. So, in a sense, this is an election year.

IT WILL BE a most interesting period, for it would seem to spell hope for the Republicans if things do not change in the foreign relations department, namely Viet Nam.

On the domestic side, the administration can expect to elect more congressmen in the next election if everything continues as is.

IT IS MY feeling that L. B. J.'s personal popularity will slip enough between now and election time 1966 to allow Republicans to gain more seats in Congress. In other words the honeymoon is over for the "Texas administration."

Republican chances will be enhanced if there is a general feeling among the populace in 1966, of a "squeeze play" on the public by the boys in Washington.

THIS is the time of testing for such L. B. J.-backed programs as Medicare, intervention in the Dominican Republic and other trouble spots around the world, a confined long war in Viet Nam, "Repeal of 14-B," and other controversial measures.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Gary's Jargon . . .

New Freshmen More Reasonable

by Gary E. Baugh

Well, Provo turned over in her grave for another year. The BYU students are back fired up and ready to go! As you have noticed, it looks as if to be one filled with all kinds of surprises and excitement.

To start with, the freshmen are more reasonable than ever—the boys aren't going to be pre-med majors for change—but half of them. (There will only be 10 percent after Chem 111 and Math 112.)

For a grand opening, how about the snow! I hear that by Saturday afternoon there was an acre of snow to wax to be bought in Provo. And at the dorms last night's stories are already drowning out this summer's golf and beach parties. (One innocent California freshman was overheard asking if this white stuff was manna!)

And for a surprise to beat all surprises and the following of a great year to come—the football team vs their opening game—not only did they win it, but they thoroughly drubbed ASU. Even the Salt Lake Tribune was a favorable column about the team's outstanding performance. (Next thing you know, John Mooney, the Tribune Sports Editor, will be an avid BYU fan! Oh, the end is near!) However, there are some old standard items still around campus which never seem to change. For instance, we have this ASBYU President Bob Christensen is continuing the book started by last year's prezzy Bruce Olsen "How Make Sisters Out of Your Girl Friends."

Another standard is that all of the girls are giving him their summer love's engagement ring so as to avail themselves of "new horizons and opportunities."

GARY'S GIB: Have you noticed the almost doubled enrollment in AFROTC this year? I wonder why?

Has U.S. Lost Position

by James Kirkwood

Has the United States of America lost its once great position as world leader?

SINCE ITS inception, the U.S. has advocated "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." We have tried to spread these moral ideas so actively that at times in our history these ideas nearly became an international American conspiracy.

THE EVENTS of recent years have plummeted our once great nation from the lofty heights we previously occupied. This nation which is the progenitor of the revolutionary spirit is now found in collusion with those colonial villains England, France, and Portugal.

Our association with these colonial powers has destroyed the position this country once held. We must act now if we are to save ourselves.

TO PRESERVE ITSELF, this country is forced to initiate a program of helping only those countries where social reform has been implemented.

This country must devise a program which can adjust assumptions of dependence with regard to international affairs. We will have to solve problems, not create them.

At this point a three step program can be suggested:

1. We should solve our domestic problems. Poverty, race relations, and beautification must overcome with dispatch.

2. We must elect men with perspectives in foreign affairs. Election to the Senate on the basis of a man's ability and qualification not his personality.

3. Finally, intelligent and informed public opinions should motivate the President to project

IF THE UNITED STATES is to regain its image among underdeveloped nations, it must cease its villainous collusions with the colonialist powers.

dressing the huge overflow crowd in the Smith Fieldhouse is President Wilkinson, who gave his annual President's message to the student body at Thursday's Forum assembly. He urged compliance with higher standards the campus this year and told of tremendous enrollment growth of BYU.

Missionary Quotas

against the quotas: I-D and I-Y (until further advised), I-V-P, and V-A.

Young men sent from student wards will be counted against the of their home wards. In each case the student ward bishop first determine from the young man's home ward bishop the availability of a quota before recommending a young man for a mission.

No young man should be recommended for a mission more than in advance of his 19th birthday.

In those stakes where there may be an unusually large number of men who normally would be given the opportunity of a mission but who may be denied under the above program, the master is brought to the attention of the Missionary Executive Committee.

In recommending young men, bishops will please furnish all we Service data requested on the missionary recommendation and will also indicate the ward or branch under whose quota the young man is being sent.

I ask that bishops immediately advise young men of this restricted program so that any who normally would be attending school if to go on missions may feel free to register for school.

Sincerely your brethren,

Draft Heads For Street

WASHINGTON, (AP)—U. S. officials said Thursday several tens of thousands of youths probably will have "recruited from the streets," above the number taken recently increased draft calls, to complete the military impounded by President Johnson last June.

Sharp Action Punctuates Viet Theater

SAIGON, VIET NAM, (AP)—U.S. and Vietnamese troops fought sharp battles with the Viet Cong hundreds of miles apart Thursday and Friday, and spectators reported least 18 were the enemy killed.

In the air was U.S. planes kept up the attack on targets in North and South Vietnam and showed the area north of the Communist city of Vinh with 300,000 leaflets saying the air strikes were necessary so long as the Viet Cong controlled the village in Son La, North.

Although no major ground assault was reported, the smaller engagements were bitterly contested spokesman said.

A company of the U. S. Army's 1st Infantry Division reported it encountered the heaviest fighting since the arrival in April of a nearly impregnable Viet Cong bunker system 40 miles Northwest of Saigon near Bien Hoa.

The Americans reported 12 wounded from withering Viet Cong fire, but could not estimate of Communist dead.

The American mounted five assaults against the bunkers and a sergeant declared: "I saw some bunkers in Korea, but I've never seen anything like these."

The American soldiers, after blasting the bunkers with machine gun fire, 105 and 155-millimeter cannons, grenades and flame throwers, called for air support. Air Force Skyraiders hit the bunkers with 750-pound bombs, napalm and machine gun fire and infantrymen resumed the attacks.

Senate Approves Watered-Down Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Senate approved a reduced $3,143,000 Foreign Aid Money Bill Thursday after beating back two attempts to slash military aid to India and Pakistan.

Passage came after only one day of debate on the usually controversial measure. Administration forces defeated all but one amendment seeking to cut the bill.

By a vote of 45 to 35, the Senate trimmed $50 million from the total approved last week by its Appropriations Committee. This brought the amount $142 million below the figure approved by the House and $217 million below the aid ceiling set earlier in the Foreign Aid authorization.

Red Chinese To Construct 'Tibetan Wall'

NEW DELHI, INDIA, (AP)—A threat of sustained guerrilla operations by the Tibetan segment of Kashmir cast a shadow Thursday over the U.N.-sponsored cease-fire that stopped the shooting war between India and Pakistan.

Both nations, though silencing their guns, opened a battle of words that forecast a sorry road ahead in the search for genuine peace.

In the north, Red China was reported setting up a Himalayan version of the Berlin Wall near Jelep pass. This would be a new phase of the frontier military building that accompanied the battle action of India and its Moslem neighbor. A Defense Ministry spokesman said the Chinese had built a stone wall with cement and stone Jelep pass, at an altitude of 12,800 feet is one of the contested mountain routes linking the Indian protectorate of Sikkim with Chinese-ruled Tibet.

BYU Grad Exhibits Work At Harris Art Center

A one-man art show featuring Utah native Louise B. Hansen is now on display in the Harris Fine Art Center.

Among the 56 pieces of art on exhibit are 36 watercolors, 5 oils, 5 prints, and 10 polymer. Subject matter varies from very simple expressions of growing flowers to minute details of great buildings of old Utah Valley buildings.

Mrs. Hansen, a native of Pleasant Grove, graduated from Brigham Young University with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Music, and is now fulfilling requirements for a Master of Fine Arts Degree.

She first studied art as a senior at BYU. In less than a year she placed first in the Utah State Institute of Fine Arts exhibit. Since then she has taught music in Salt Lake City and Kaiserslautern, Germany.

Artist Hansen has won numerous awards and cash prizes for her works. She is considered by many to be the foremost Utah artist living.

Mrs. Hansen's exhibit will remain in the Fine Arts Center through Sept. 30 at which time it will be moved to the Wilkinson Center Gallery for an additional two weeks.

Students, faculty and the general public are invited to attend a program in the main gallery of the Harris Fine Arts Center at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 29.

The Fine Arts Department will open its annual event and Glen R. Turner, chairman of the department, will be the featured speaker for the evening.

Mrs. Hansen's exhibit is part of a series of art exhibits planned for the coming year by the Fine Arts College.

Post Set For Orientation Of Missionaries

If you are a return missionary and you have a desire to help other returned missionaries, then a post is open to you. The Office of the Vice-President of Academics is now interviewing returned missionaries for the purpose of selecting one to handle applications submitted to student government by the University Administration.

THIS PROGRAM CONCERN the orientation of returned missionaries who prior to their mission were poor scholars and who upon their return are now encountering similar problems.

Only the coordinator of the program will have the responsibility of organizing under him a committee consisting of representatives of each mission of the Church. He will then establish a program for those students who need help, a program to help them fit themselves in college socially and academically.

THE CHAIRMAN of this program will work directly under the Vice President of Academics and will be in constant contact with the University Administration.

Interviews will be held Friday, September 24, from 9:10 to 12:30. Sign up for an interview on the fourth floor of the Wilkinson Center.

AND WHO knows—if you're real nice, maybe, just maybe—the security officer will smile and scrawl "Void" across his copy of the ticket.

The grand opening of the Skyrace room of the Wilkinson Center will be held Saturday night. Dinner will be served from 7:30 to 10 p.m. and dancing will fill the hours between 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

PATRONS WILL enjoy the many shows of O'Neil Miner's Combo and the soon-to-be-vocalists.

Cougars Battle K-State In Opener

Fans might well be treated to a run and shoot pair of offenses this weekend as BYU and K-State lock claws. Here Virgil Carter passes against the ASU Sun Devils.

The Deep Plunge . . .

WAC Teams Meet Non-League Foes

Western Athletic Conference members plunge deep into footbals waters this weekend with non-conference opponents. The conference's top two teams will have their hands full when the Oregon State Cougars and the University of Wyoming Cowboys will have trouble from Colorado State although the Rams slaughtered the Blue Devils last weekend by 54-6.

New Mexico, tabbed to finish runner-up to Wyoming in the Rocky Mountain Conference, plays host to a Texas Western squad which dropped its opener to Northern Illinois, 20-17.

UTAH STATE'S encounter with

Aztec State at Temple should be a battle royal. The Aggies drew a bye last week after a lackadaisical—though winning—performance against Wyoming.

Coach Tony Knapp's Farmers are primed for revenge for last year's opening game defeat by the Wildcats, 24-8, while ASU is still smarting from the 24-6 drubbing handed them by BYU last week.

USUALLY RUGGED Kansas took its lumps from Texas Tech 26-7 last Saturday, but plays at home against Arizona, vanquisher of Utah, this week.

MONDAY'S small weekends: Utah players dominate WAC statistics as the Utes have played two games to the others' one.

REDSKIN QUARTERBACK Rickey Groth leads in total offense with 231 net yards on passing. BYU's Virgil Carter is right behind, due to a superb effort against ASU, with 217 yards. John Goodman of Arizona State is tied for third with Rick Edwards, 196, and Roy Beck, 180 total yards gained.

In passing Groth has completed 21 of 30 passes for 239 yards, while Goodman is 10 for 15 and 146. Carter has hit 10 of 18 for 134 yards.

RUSHING LEADER of the conference thus far is Utah's Roy Borwick, sophomore halfback, with a two-game total of 157; followed by Carter, 83, last year's leader Jim Ogden, 75; and Egloff, 58.

BYU's Kent Oborn is capable of defending his 1964 leadership in punt return with 117 yards in six trips.

Nance Replaces Oborn; Wildcat Passes A Threat

by Gary Wood
Associate Sports Editor

For wild fly Friday night as the eager Cougars open at home against equally eager Kansas State Wildcat team. What follows is a more concise preview of what can be expected in the remainder of the still young 1965 football season.

BOTH of the relatively inexperienced grid squads launched their campaigns on an impressive note last week. BYU surprised everybody by trouncing supposedly powerful Arizona State 24-6 as Kansas State was giving a big and talented Indiana team a real scare before bowing, 19-7.

The two opponents escaped surprisingly in their first week of combat. Cougars defense back Clegg Belcher is listed as a probable starter against the Wildcats, despite spraining an elbow in the eye at Tempe.

VETERAN OFFENSIVE tailback Kent Oborn has been bothered by a bruised knee and practices this week and will be replaced as a starter by Kent Nance. "Oborn will definitely see a lot of action, however," assured Head Coach Tom Hudspeth.

Although most expect the game to be a close, hard-fought contest, the Cougars have to be given a slight edge due to the home-court advantage plus the polished performance against ASU's Sun Devils.

THE APPEARANCE will be the first for a Kansas State football team in Utah, and should they win the contest to the Cougars, adversary, that would be another "first" as the Wildcats have emerged victorious in their two previous confrontations against BYU in Manhattan, Kansas.

The Wildcats followed up a 36-7 trouncing of the Blue and White in 1957 with a 24-7 win in 1963.

THE FOES ARE anxious to improve on solid 1964 records of 3-7 for Kansas State and 3-6-1 for Coach Hudspeth's warriors.

BYU's personable head mentor is holding his breath as his defensive platoon will duplicate its stellar performance against the Sun Devils.

Kansas State, with Sophomore Vic Castillo's gifted arms, is expected to fill the air with passes. Castillo completed 20 passes in 46 attempts for 241 yards in his team's loss to the Hoosiers last Saturday.

Passing was the one facet of ASU's attack which gave the Cougars difficulty. The Sun Devil aerial game penetrated the BYU defensive for 146 yards and a touch-down.

The Puma grididers have not won their first two games of the season since 1958, when they knocked off Fresno State 29-7 and Utah 14-7.

Game time is 8 p.m.

Army Tunes For Halftime

Working around two old army tunes, the Cougar band will entertain Cougar fans during the halftime of the Friday night game in the same martial spirit which the football team entertains its opponents.

ACCORDING TO director Dick Ballou, the band will do a precision dance routine to "Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning," followed with "This is the Army, Mr. Jones."

The band will complete their first halftime show with the Mormon Tabernacle Choir version of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." This number was included as part of a show in 1960 and is now being re-created, five years later, by popular demand. . . . It is the first time the Marching Band has ever repeated any portion of a show.

THE BAND WILL feature the sole twirling of majorette Karen Jelch and will have veteran Jim Brague as the Drum Major.

Ballou, assisted by Grant Ellington, has been working with the band for nearly two weeks (the band returned early to begin practice sessions in order to be prepared for this early show) and observes they should be one of the finest seasons in Marching Band history.

Cosmo's got something up his sleeve and even Pep Committee leaders Lee Eastland, Jim Christensen, and Dave Mickel are astounded. Mum's the word, however . . . Cosmo's not saying a word—"wait and see," he says.

Pep Committee Primed To Mold Tangible Spirit

Studentbody spirit is always a primary goal for studentbody leaders, but achieving isn't the easiest to come by.

THE MAJOR organization responsible for the Spirit is of course the pep committee. It sounds like passing the buck, but nevertheless the problem rests squarely in their lap.

"We want to make the Spirit of the Y a real tangible thing for every student," commented co-chairman Dave Mickel.

"THIS YEAR WE'RE organized better than ever before to guide and direct the enthusiasm of the studentbody into productive channels."

Mickel pointed out that in the past the committee has consisted of 35-50 members . . . this year's committee currently boasts a strength of between 350 and 400 members.

"ANYONE CAN HELP," emphasized Mickel. "This is a studentbody committee and we want the students to feel free to lend assistance. Never before has the committee been so organized to carry out our goals."

Former 'Poke Star Hospitalized

OXFORD, OHIO (AP)—Former Wyoming University basketball star Flynn Robinson remained in an Oxford hospital this week with a chest infection and a spokesman for the Cincinnati Royals said he would not go along when the professional basketball team breaks camp.

"I WOULD definitely say this will hurt his chances to make the team," the spokesman said. "It's a tough decision to make, sure, but he's only had about two days of workouts."

Rosenblum was admitted to the hospital Friday and his condition was diagnosed as a strep throat. Hospital attaches later said the 6-1 guard is also suffering from a chest condition and will be transferred to Cincinnati Holmes Hospital.

Stadium Wired For Sound

by Stan Hodge
Sports Editor

Remember the public address system we heard at last year's football games?

"John Ogden John picks Ogden up picks first up and first ten and ten." That terrible echo is a thing of the past.

What pleasant news. No longer will fans need to be cryptologists to figure out what's going on down on the field. It'll come out in plain ordinary English—un garbled English.

Why the sudden change? Well it wasn't sudden... it took a lot of work, and was one of the products resulting from the complete rewiring of the BYU Stadium sound system.

I talked with Daines Lund, who was in charge of the sound wiring, about the job and the list of changes he made was astounding. Most obvious to the fans of course will be the missing echo.

No False Echo Remaining

Lund explained that this year general announcements will be made through the speakers in the west stands only. This will end the really "false" echo caused by the fan hearing speakers on both sides with a time delay on the voice from the speaker on the opposite side. Speakers on the west however, may be heard equally well on the east side.

The new system enables controllers to actually send out three programs at once using varying speakers.

The east speakers for example will be used by the BYU yell leaders. The control panel in the press box includes a volume control to prevent this sound from moving to the west.

Within the press area itself, the intercom system has been reworked completely. It will now be possible to talk directly to the dressing rooms and other areas within the stadium.

Spy Vs. Spy

One of the major problems the fans were never aware of concerned the spotter circuits. This is a private intercom running from home and visiting team spotters in the press box to their respective benches.

According to Lund, the crowd noises would often cancel out any possible transmission and to make matters worse there was often a cross-talk problem wherein the BYU branch got the visitor's comments and vice versa. No longer does that problem exist.

Coach Hudspeth must have figured, why not, as long as they're reworking the place anyway, take advantage of the system and try to make it help the boys work up before the game. At any rate Audio-Visual is now wiring the BYU dressing room to receive the Cougar Band, crowd noise, yell leaders and the works... to enable the team to feel the crowd atmosphere while they prepare.

Sure Beats Coming In Second

There are probably those in the studentbody who feel we've put too much stock in last week's victory over Arizona State. Maybe. But until I'm proven wrong I'll consider this could even possibly be the year.

It's like the sign just inside the door to the coach's office at Hardin-Simmons University: "Winning isn't everything," it says, "but it sure beats coming in second."

And it does too. Just ask Coach Hudspeth. He's one guy who doesn't like coming in second, and you'd better believe he'll know the reason why when any of his teams do.

Pigskin Prognostications

Here are the guesses of the Universe board of Prognosticators on the top 15 games around the country this weekend. Students are again able to express their differing views by submitting their choices, with or without scores, to the Sports Desk (1221) from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday. The winning forecaster will earn $100. Those who have his predictions published will those in the game record book. The winner of last week's contest, Bob Wiesner (with a 31-3 record), was not able to be contacted. And, Sports Publisher Ron Mitchell is filling that spot this week.

Clay Reinstatement?

CARSON CITY, NEV. (AP)—Muhammad Ali made his request through his Louisville, Ky. attorney in a telegram to World Boxing Association President James Deskin of Las Vegas.

"THE MOVE would save the way toward ending the Clay-WBA feud over the heavyweight title if the WBA grants Clay's request."

Clay was stripped of his title 13 months ago for signing a return bout contract with Sonny Liston before their second fight. Still, he's generally recognized as heavyweight champion.

CLAY WHO prefers the name of Deskin said Clay's action was not unexpected, since WBA adopted a resolution at its annual meeting last month inviting Clay to make such a request.

Basic Climbing Advice Listed By Rescue Team

safe climbing or hiking. There are more falls, more broken bones and dislocations, than gym shoes (especially low cuts) or slick soled shoes. Despite warnings, students will continue to go into the mountains. Following are a few basic rules to follow:

1. NEVER GO ALONE, and remember going in threes is better than twos.

2. NOTIFY the University Security Office (Ext. 2751) where you are going and when you plan to return.

3. HIKE OR CLIMB only in areas you are familiar with. Have a knowledge of the route you plan to take.

4. STAY ON THE TRAIL and arm where the danger points are; ignore and respect a dangerous and difficult climb.

5. BEGIN YOUR mountaintrip with short, easy hikes or climbs.

6. WEAR PROPER SHOES and properly dressed (a hardhat could be a good investment) for kind of activity.

7. GET AN EARLY START and avoid climbing in poor weather, now long the climb will take.

8. DON'T ROLL ROCKS. Be aware of falling rocks at all times.

9. REMEMBER the four good commandments of climbing: severity of the climb, lack of proper equipment, lateness of the day, and adverse weather conditions.

10. REMEMBER it is easier to go up than down, and most accidents happen on the way down.

11. DO NOT SHOUT or call unless you need help. The uniform distress signal is three quickly repeated calls (audible or visual) repeated at regular intervals.

The Alpine Rescue Team is maintained jointly by the BYU Alpine Club and the BYU Mountaineering Club. Both are well-trained and ready to serve you. Their services are provided free of all cost and students are encouraged to make use of them should they be necessary.

ABOVE ALL don't try to rescue a companion or fellow climber! Call the Rescue team (through Security); they are trained for this job.

Mountaineering can offer exercise for the body and contentment for the soul. It can offer anyone that which he may be seeking in terms of his interest, ambition and ability, and the satisfaction of his urge for high adventure and risk. It also provides him an opportunity for meditation, wonderment and spiritual uplift in the wonders of nature.

THE RESCUE TEAM, said Petersen, doesn't want to discourage anyone from hiking in the mountains. They do want students to be careful and follow the basic rules.

Go climb—have fun—just don't die doing it.

Forbidden face: Squaw Peak (immediately north of Y Mountain) is forbidden to climbers at all times due to the permanently dangerous condition of the rocks and shale thereon.

Wilkinson Center Needs Hosts

Applications are now being taken for participants in the new Wilkinson Center Hospitality Committee. These applications are to be submitted to the ASBYU Student Offices on the fourth floor of the WILKINSON CENTER.

APPLICANTS WILL be contacted and a time arranged for a personal interview with a member of the committee. Previous members who have served on the committee are urged to contact Will Merrill, chairman of this year's Hospitality Committee. His phone number is 373-0777.

Anyone wishing to help create a better atmosphere at the Wilkinson Center and promote the Center to students and visitors alike should submit an application.

SOME OF THE duties of the committee members will be to lead guided tours through the building, act as a host for visitors to the Wilkinson Center, help with the student art sale, and to help with the Wilkinson Center Week. This is an opportunity to meet a great number of people and to help create an 'at home' atmosphere at Brigham Young University.

Positions Opened For Secretaries

The Office of Vice President of Culture has a few openings for secretaries. Applications may be obtained from the Culture Office and all interested may sign up for interviews.
